A GLOBAL LEADER IN IMPROVING HEALTH CARE FOR WOMEN AND FAMILIES

Midwives in Aceh

- Prior to tsunami, approximately 6,000 midwives providing services in public and private sector
- Midwives provide 80-90% of maternal and newborn care in both the public and private sector
- Approximately 250 midwives lost their lives or remain missing in Aceh

MISP Recommendations

- To prevent excess maternal and neonatal morbidity and mortality:
 - Restore basic and comprehensive emergency obstetric services and referral systems
 - Ensure supplies and equipment are available to visibly pregnant women and midwives
 - Undertake an information campaign to educate community on signs of complications and how to access referral systems in case of emergency

Short term Emergency Relief

- Recruiting midwives to provide health services to women and children in camps
- Provision of supplies and equipment to midwives
- Distributing vouchers to women and families in camps to obtain services in midwife clinics free of charge
- Re-establishing services at referral hospitals
- Emotional support for midwives to assist them to return to clinical practice

Longterm Rebuilding of Health Systems

- Rebuilding and strengthening of Community Health Centers (puskesmas) and Village Maternity Homes (polindes)
- Community mobilization for birth preparedness/complication readiness
- Revitalization and strengthening of private midwife practices
- Rebuilding and strengthening midwifery schools

Bridging Resources

- JHPIEGO's expertise, experience, and relationships enabled private corporations to channel their resources where most needed
- JHPIEGO and partners had needs for products, services, and funds from corporations

Accessing Private Resources

- Making contacts
- Building relationships/trust
- Proposing support/programs
- Awaiting approval

What can be done better

- Building relationships sooner
- Minimizing approval time
- Remaining flexible when situation is rapidly changing
- Recognizing time commitment from staff

Our questions

- In-kind versus financial
- Short term versus longterm
- With whom to collaborate? From whom to accept funds?

ш

Thank You!
